NCACC 114th Annual Conference Save the Date: We're Getting Back Together!

It's official, NCACC is getting the county family back together! After a long and difficult year of working together through unprecedented challenges from a distance, we are thrilled to announce that NCACC will hold the 2021 Annual Conference in-person. Thank you to our host, New Hanover County, for helping with this highly anticipated event. The NCACC will also offer a virtual option that could include live streams of general sessions and/or recorded content available on-demand after the conference.

The 114th Annual Conference will be held August 12-14, 2021, at the Wilmington Convention Center and surrounding facilities. Conveniently located in downtown Wilimington, the venue is in a walkable neighborhood on the Cape Fear riverfront, near several historic sites and within a short drive of Wrightsville, Carolina, and Kure beaches.

To ensure this event is safe for all attendees, we will take steps to comply with COVID-19 safety protocols and appreciate your cooperation. Attendees can President's Banquet. Per current guidance, we will make certain program modifications to meet CDC, State of North Carolina, and venue protocols. Attendees will be required to abide by health and safety protocols to include but not limited to:

- temperature and face covering checks prior to entering each meeting facility;
- wearing a face covering at all times except when actively eating or drinking.

The NCACC has contracted room blocks at the Embassy Suites and Hotel Ballast. The room blocks will open on April 15. Click here for more information on the contracted hotels, as well as other great options within walking distance. Registration will open in early May.

We hope you can join and look forward to seeing you at the 2021 NCACC Annual Conference. We're so excited to be reunited!

The NCACC has developed a brief survey to aid with planning. We ask that you complete the survey by Friday, April 9.
